Headline:
Mostly dry with sunny spells developing, but Argyll cloudier.

Today:
It will be rather cloudy through Argyll and much of the west coast with a few spots of drizzle at first. Elsewhere, bright with some warm sunny spells developing, although a little more cloud than recent days. Light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
A generally fine end with plenty of sunshine, but cloud will become more extensive overnight with some mist and drizzle, this most widespread through Argyll and around the west coast. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Saturday:
Argyll and parts of the west coast remaining cloudy with early mist and drizzle. Dry elsewhere and after a rather cloudy start, bright or sunny spells developing during the day. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Staying mainly dry and settled, although a little patchy light rain possible on Sunday. Bright or sunny spells developing widely by day, warm or very warm in any sunshine.
